Student life

Join our vibrant and welcoming campus community and enjoy the endless social, cultural, sporting and recreational activities. There are endless ways to get involved.

Stay fit and active while studying

RMIT's Saigon South campus provides a safe and clean environment to help you stay active. You can take advantage of facilities including a fitness centre, indoor courts, dedicated tennis and basketball courts, and football fields. We regularly organise team sports, such as football and basketball. At our Hanoi City campus, you will have access to a fitness centre with the latest training equipment.

Student clubs

You can choose from 40 student clubs across a range of academic, arts, cultural, sports and social interests. So take your learning beyond the classroom, gain new skills, develop new interests and make new friends!

Enjoy our world-class facilities

RMIT's libraries in Saigon South and Hanoi provide access to more than 550,000 books, periodicals, e-books, journals and videos. You will have online access to RMIT's extensive library in Australia.

Business students learn in our Financial Trading Lab, which is state-of-the art classroom facility that replicates a real-world trading room by using software that enables students to find and analyse real-time information.

Our Cyber Security and Logistics Laboratory has up-to-date equipment that is unique in Vietnam.

Engineering students have access to professional-standard laboratories, modern computer rooms, plus new electronic materials testing and processing equipment and software.

Students in the fields of design, communication and fashion utilise specialist facilities and modern teaching spaces, including high-quality audiovisual resources and video and audio production studios.

Student support

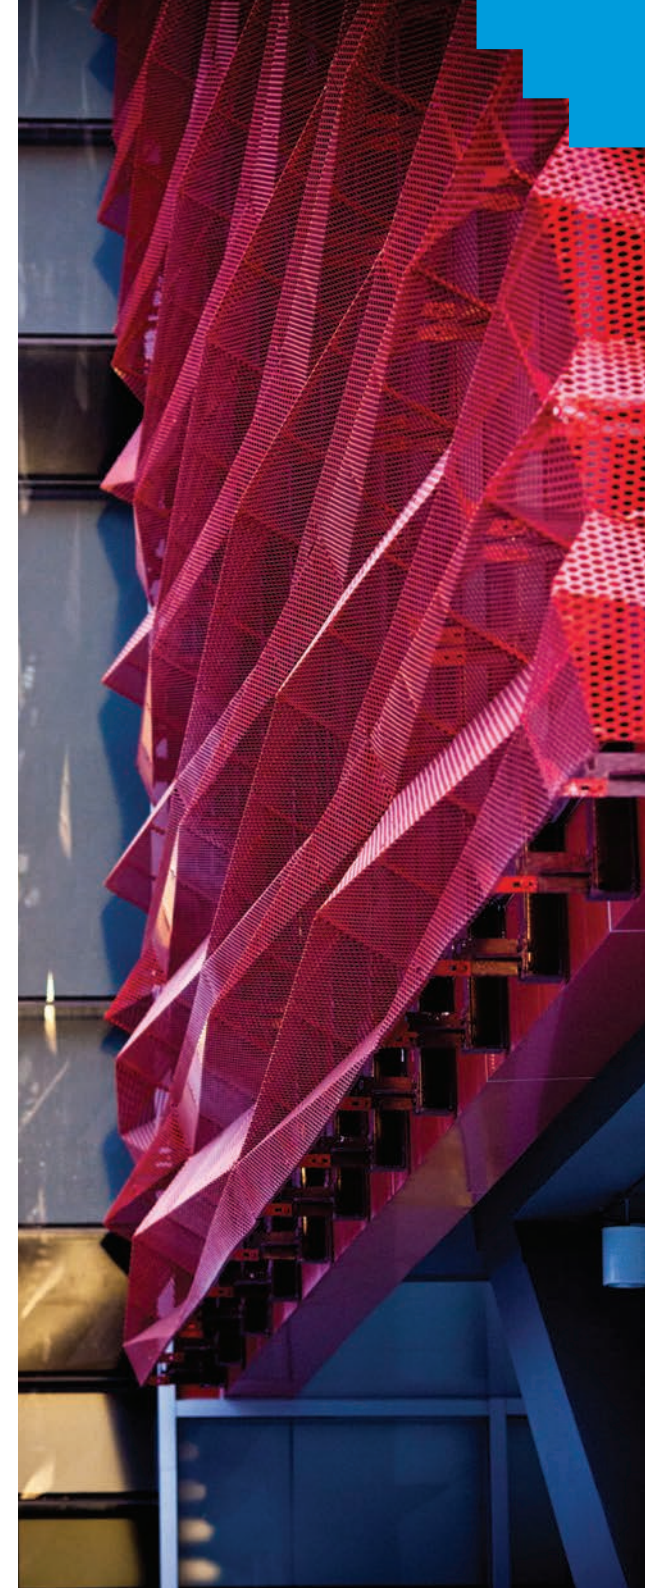

While moving to a new country to live and study can be exciting and challenging in equal measure, we offer plenty of support to make the transition easier.

RMIT provides a range of support services throughout your journey, including prior to departure, upon arrival in Vietnam, during your studies and upon completion of your time with RMIT.

Our professional staff are here to help you. We care about your physical, social and emotional wellbeing, and we understand that everyone is different and every individual's situation is unique.

Health and wellbeing services are available at both our Saigon South and Hanoi City campuses.

We have a range of learning support services to help you develop skills, strategies and knowledge about how to succeed academically. You can join group study sessions or arrange one-on-one consultations.

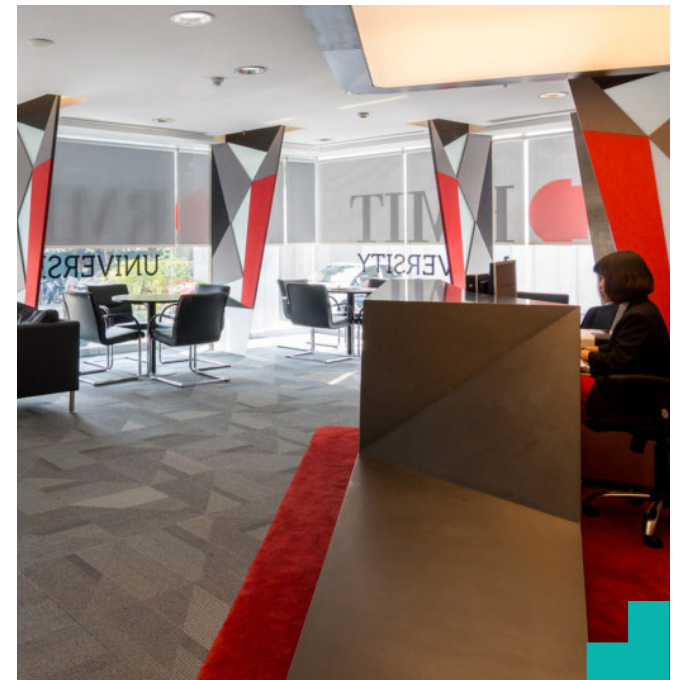

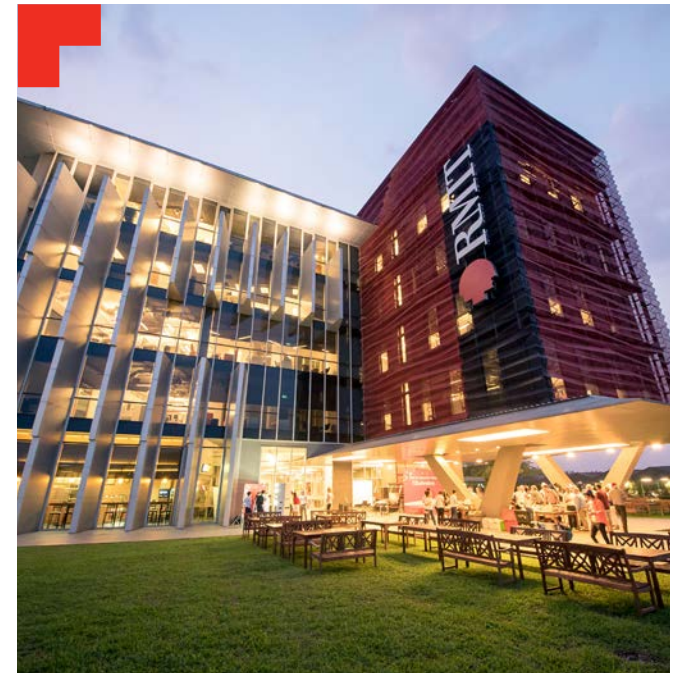

Saigon South campus, Ho Chi Minh City

The Saigon South campus is located in District 7, which is a safe and friendly area about 15-20 minutes from the city centre. Located nearby are two large shopping centres where you can find well-known fashion brands, food outlets and cinemas.

Hanoi City campus, Hanoi

The Hanoi City campus is located in the Handi Resco Building on the banks of one of Hanoi's most picturesque lakes. The campus is close to many amenities, including restaurants, shopping centres and cinemas.

Find a buddy and settle in

We want you to make the most of your time at RMIT in Vietnam by meeting new people, trying new things, sharing your skills and discovering your talents. A great way to do this is to join our buddy program.

A buddy is a current student who is well equipped with the skills and knowledge to help you with your transition to studying at RMIT and living in Vietnam.

The buddy team also organises activities and events that provide a great opportunity to meet other international and local students.

I love the 'dorm' life at Saigon South. Everyone living in the student accommodation gets along, and the staff there are very friendly, too. We often arrange movie nights at the dorm so we can all hang out together and watch films. The campus has many good facilities, especially the library. The library has a great fiction section, along with excellent study resources.

Living in VIETNAM

Living and studying in Vietnam provides a unique opportunity to explore this historic, exotic and rapidly developing country.

Vietnam's population and economy are on the rise. The strong economic development of the past 30 years makes Vietnam an attractive destination for investment. With a labour force growing by more than one million people each year, competition is high in the jobs market. It is a young country, too, with about 24 per cent of the population being aged under 14.

Vietnam is a highly networked country, ranked 16th in the world for internet use. You certainly won't have a problem finding free wifi in the big cities!

For culture, food and dramatic scenery, Vietnam has it all! So make sure that you take advantage of the opportunity to do some travelling.

Whether it's exploring the ancient town of Hoi An, the historical ruins of the Cham dynasty and colourful temples and pagodas, you're bound to be amazed by the history and cultural diversity.

The landscape is stunning, too. Relax on the beautiful beaches of central Vietnam or take in the view of Halong Bay, where 2000 limestone islands rise up from the Gulf of Tonkin.

Other 'must-see' destinations are the highland town of Dalat, the busy river life along the Mekong Delta, the mountainous areas of Sapa and the world's largest cave at Hang Son Doong.

Halong Bay, a UNESCO World Heritage site, is a must-see destination!

Food

Whether you're studying in Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City, you'll have access to vibrant food scenes, full of all kinds of cafes, restaurants and street vendors.

Vietnamese food is cheap and tasty. Make sure you try a wide range of street food, such as Vietnamese sandwiches, grilled seafood, rice paper salads, crab soup and sweet desserts. There are many local favourites!

You'll never be short of drink options either. There are plenty of cafes and fancy new bars to tempt your tastebuds.

If you love cooking, you'll be surprised by the number of Vietnamese cooking classes available. Such classes are usually combined with a trip to the market to buy fresh produce.

Shopping

Across the big cities, modern and air-conditioned shopping centres have many top brands and food courts. While most items are readily available, it's best to bring your own medications and special toiletries.

One particular problem for foreigners is finding clothes in larger sizes. But this can be overcome cheaply by having your clothes made to measure at one of the many tailors.

If you love traditional markets, then you'll love Vietnam. But you have to be ready to bargain!

Transport

The most popular way to get around is by motorbike. You can rent a bike or, for individual trips, call a motorbike taxi. To ride your own motorbike of more than 50cc, you need a license. It is compulsory to wear a helmet.

Fares for buses and taxis are very cheap. Longer distance travel to other cities or to the countryside can be done by long-distance bus, train and plane.

Explore the region

Vietnam is an ideal base, being centrally located in Asia and having budget airlines providing services to all major cities in the region. Why not take the chance to explore beyond Vietnam during the semester breaks?

All located within a few flying hours from Vietnam's major cities are destinations including Thailand, Malaysia, Myanmar, Cambodia, Singapore, China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Laos and the Philippines.

Country: Australia

Ho Chi Minh is a very interesting city. There is always something to see and do. From art exhibitions, to live music and markets, you won't be bored! As for Vietnam in general, it is a country that has it all. The beaches, mountains, waterfalls and cities – it truly has so much to offer. You'll have the opportunity to travel though not only Vietnam but the rest of Southeast Asia.

Ho Chi Minh City

Formerly known as Saigon, this fast-moving, ever-growing modern city is the economic centre of Vietnam, and is populated by almost 7.3 million people...and over 7 million motorbikes! In January 2017, Ho Chi Minh City was named as the world's second most dynamic city.*

The city is open 24-7 and is home to many cafes and restaurants serving food from all around the world.

The traffic is dizzying and life happens at full speed. Beyond that, you'll find glimpses of history and culture in the gentle quiet of Chinese pagodas and in the creativity of the Fine Arts Museum.

Other attractions include the Opera House, French colonial-style hotels, museums and galleries, and the Ben Thanh Market.

* JLL City Momentum Index 2017

Saigon South

Living near RMIT's Saigon South campus offers a great opportunity to enjoy cuisines from around the world. This modern residential area is quieter than the city. It has a variety of well-priced cafes and restaurants catering to its high population of foreigners. The local supermarkets and convenience stores will have everything you need to prepare your own meals.

Ho Chi Minh City's tropical climate, with wet and dry seasons, produces temperature highs of between 31 and 35 degrees Celsius.

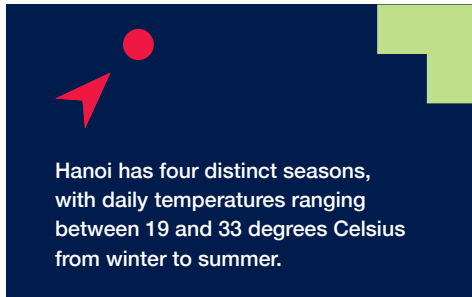

Hanoi

Culture and history define this 1000-year-old city. Walk the narrow historic streets of the Old Quarter, where shops sell everything from red candlesticks to lacquerware and water puppets.

Take in the sights and sounds of Hoan Kiem Lake. The lake is the focal point of Hanoi life, especially on weekends. Ngoc Son Temple, built in the 18th century, is located in the centre of the lake on a small island. You'll find plenty of street traders, cafes, bars, restaurants, tourist shops and art galleries in this historical area.

Outside the city centre, you can visit many traditional handicraft villages. When visiting these villages, you can see the process of making products and even have a go yourself! It is a great way to escape the city and enjoy the fresh air of the countryside.

Another popular day trip is to Ba Vi National Park, a nature reserve famous for its three-peaked mountain, fauna and flora, and hot springs

Global experiences

Overseas study gives you the chance to be part of a different culture, experience new foods and customs, expand your network of friends and explore a new country.

When you enrol at RMIT University in Vietnam, you are making the world your classroom. You can choose to study a short course abroad, go on an overseas exchange for one or two semesters at one of our 200-plus partner universities or take up a cross-campus transfer to RMIT in Australia.

Exchange to partner universities

Exchange is a short-term study commitment of one or two semesters overseas.

RMIT's wide network offers you a world of opportunities and adventure. So you can be sure to find a location to suit your study needs and your style.

The experience of living and studying overseas varies widely from country to country. But, wherever you go, you can be sure to have an exciting and memorable experience.

Short courses

Study tours, short courses and summer and winter programs are a great way to get a global experience and fast-track your degree.

These options provide an intensive and interesting experience overseas, combining academic and cultural studies.

RMIT Melbourne

Cross-campus study

You can take the chance to study for one or two semesters at RMIT in Melbourne, Australia. RMIT Melbourne provides an international learning environment, home to about 12,000 students from more than 100 countries. You will become part of a vibrant and welcoming campus community, with plenty of opportunities to mix in social, cultural, sporting and recreational activities.

Study in the heart of one of the world's most liveable cities

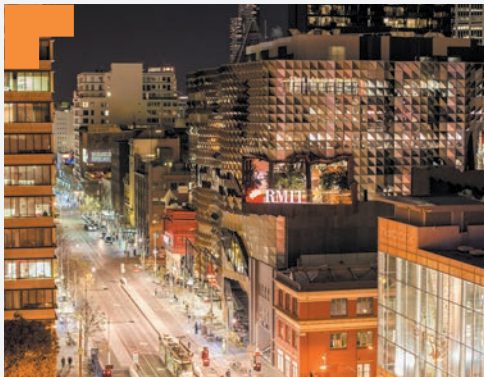

Melbourne is the capital city of Victoria in Australia's south-east. It's a thriving, modern and multicultural city, offering you the chance to explore its many natural and cultural charms. Melbourne's reputation as one of the world's most liveable cities attracts visitors from all over the world. A cafe culture dominates the many streets and laneways. The natural beauty of the Australian landscape is only a short drive away!

Melbourne has often been ranked as the 'world's most liveable city'

Getting around the city is easy

RMIT Melbourne offers you support to find accommodation

Share the experience with others and have fun!

When you are studying on exchange at RMIT in Melbourne, you will remain enrolled full-time at RMIT in Vietnam. So you'll benefit by continuing to pay your usual tuition fee rate instead of the Australian rate!

Transfer

Programs at RMIT in Vietnam are equivalent to those offered at RMIT in Melbourne. So, if you want to study in Vietnam for a year or two and then transfer permanently to Australia, you can do so without disruption to your studies.*

 Please note that transfers are subject to successful program/course mapping and availability. Some programs in Vietnam are not offered in Melbourne.*

Beyond the classroom

Internships

As a student at RMIT, you will benefit from meaningful, varied and practical learning experiences, including internships. Our Flagship Internship program gives you the opportunity to transfer the knowledge and skills you learn in class into real-world situations.

Our degree programs provide an internship opportunity to spend up to 15 weeks in a workplace, with support from our careers team, academic supervisors and work supervisors. The Flagship Internship program helps you get a foot into the door in competitive industry environments.

Industry

At RMIT, you'll learn from experts working at the forefront of their fields. We have strong relationships with industry and work with key partners to ensure programs are relevant and up to date. You will have access to professional mentors, guest speakers and internship opportunities with our industry partners in Vietnam and abroad.

Volunteering

Our students are welcomed as volunteers all over Vietnam. Many do some voluntary work in hospitals, orphanages, clinics and schools. You could end up teaching, entertaining or even renovating! So bring your skills and commitment, and be rewarded with smiles and love. There are also opportunities to volunteer for animal welfare and environmental organisations.

I chose RMIT Vietnam as I can study for an internationally recognised degree and be immersed in a new culture at the same time. It's like getting two experiences for the price of one! Additionally, I can study the MIB in only one year at RMIT Vietnam, so I'm not away from my professional life for too long. RMIT has passionate professors, great facilities, small class sizes and an exciting international atmosphere.

English for University

Once you have successfully completed the Advanced stage, you can progress directly to your chosen undergraduate or postgraduate program. Throughout the program, teachers review your progress by setting regular homework tasks and ongoing assessments. Entry is flexible and tailored to your skills and needs.

Fees and finances

Cost of living

The cost of living in Vietnam is relatively low. How much you spend depends on your lifestyle, of course! But it's possible to keep costs low if you budget wisely.

You will need to allow for some initial set-up costs, such as for a deposit on your accommodation.

Due to the convenience and inexpensive cost of taxis and motorcycle taxis, such as Grab, there is no need to own a vehicle. Below is a rough guide to the cost of living in Ho Chi Minh City and Hanoi:

Monthly expenses in USD*
Rent	$300-$600 (shared-studio)
Electricity, gas, water	$25-30
Mobile phone	$15-20
Internet	$15-20
Food	$100-200
Bus	30 cents/ticket
Taxi	50 cents/km
Motorbike taxi	35 cents/km

Accommodation

On-campus residential facilities at Saigon South accommodate more than 100 students.

Monthly expenses in USD*
Single studio	$468
Twin-bed unit	$350
Three-bedroom unit	$407
Five-bedroom unit	$385

Costs quoted are to be used as a guide and may vary by location, and exchange rates.*

Please note that we only accept payment by semester. Registration is for a whole semester, not for a single month.

Scholarships

RMIT in Vietnam offers a range of scholarships for international students. These usually cover between 25-50 per cent of tuition fees. You can apply for a scholarship at the same time as you apply for your program.
