EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES / SOURCE OF INTEREST

Criminal Convictions

The University takes an inclusive approach to recruitment. It nevertheless has obligations to safeguard students, staff and others that come into contact with you. To help the University discharge these obligations, we require all applicants to provide accurate information about criminal convictions that are not 'protected'.

There has been a recent change to the law in England and Wales concerning what information is displayed on DBS certificates. The change is referred to as "Filtering" of information on criminal convictions, and applies only to an individual who has received either only one conviction, or only cautions, and then certain rules will apply to determine whether or not such a conviction or cautions are "protected" from disclosure on the DBS certificate.

Further information can be found on the following websites:

The DBS guide to Filtering, which explains the process which will identify and remove protected convictions and cautions so they no longer appear on a DBS certificate.

The Disclosure and Barring Service, which explains the DBS Checking service.

Unlock, a charity providing advice for those with convictions.

Nacro, a charity dedicated to reducing crime and reoffending.

Do you have any convictions, cautions, reprimands or final warnings that are not 'protected' as defined by the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order 1975 (as amended in 2013)?	Yes <input type="checkbox"/>	No <input type="checkbox"/>
