

■ GRADUATE SEMESTER EXPERIENCE AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY

MET International offers graduate students from partner institutions the opportunity to concentrate in a specific field at Boston University, while satisfying the international study requirements of their home institutions. Students in graduate certificate programs have full access to the breadth of intellectual, social, and professional resources at the University.

Graduate Certificates

Graduate students in MET International enroll in specialized, four-course certificate programs, concentrating in a specific field, satisfying the international study requirements of their respective home institutions. Certificate programs offer real-world, practical learning in an environment of diverse perspectives and academic experiences.

Students are integrated into evening classes at Boston University's Metropolitan College, and study with distinguished BU faculty. They also benefit from guest lecturers from the business community—successful leaders who share their unique insight on practical business concepts and strategies.

Each certificate has a set list of required classes. A maximum of one course may be completed in an online format. More information is available from the students' home institutions and MET International.
