Global experience

Boston is the ultimate college town. The city is a hub of cultural, educational and social activity, yet it's small enough to navigate on foot.

More than 300,000 college students from around the USA and the world call Boston home, and the city is alive with their energy.

Northeastern students add their own energy to the mix and are inspired by the different cultures, ideas and experiences they encounter.

High-achieving students with strong leadership potential have the opportunity to participate in the Global Leadership in Boston* program.

This four-week program allows eligible students to complete two units at Northeastern in Boston during the northern hemisphere summer.

Students who take part in the Global Leadership in Boston program will be taught by Northeastern's experienced network of mentors, gain a greater global awareness of business practices in a cross-cultural setting, and develop knowledge and skills in international leadership.

Campus information

Northeastern's urban campus offers the green spaces and tree-lined pathways of a traditional college campus combined with the energy and diversity of a university set in the heart of a vibrant city.

The central location of our campus puts you close to all the city has to offer. Located between the world-renowned Museum of Fine Arts and Symphony Hall on Boston's Avenue of the Arts, the 73-acre main campus is a centre of dynamic intellectual, social and cultural activity. Stylish Newbury Street is within walking distance, with great shopping and dining. Our students can hop on the 'T', Boston's subway, and shop at Quincy Market, eat in the North End, visit the Museum of Science, cheer on the Celtics and Bruins at the TD Garden, or hang out in the funky squares of Cambridge, right across the Charles River.

A cosmopolitan connection

Boston has been called the 'Athens of America' for its range of educational and civic institutions. Northeastern students often find the city's cultural resources intertwined with their academic and social activities. No matter what their academic or personal interests, the riches of Boston play a part in the everyday life of Northeastern students.

Beyond Boston

For those students who like to get out of town and explore, the options are endless. Ski in Vermont, view colourful foliage and pick apples in Western Massachusetts and New Hampshire, dig for clams in Maine, tour mansions in Newport and bask on the beaches of Cape Cod.

"I chose to study the Global Leadership Program in Marketing because I want to work in the Indian Ministry of External Affairs and help rebrand India as a strong leader in international affairs. A dual degree from two reputed universities in marketing and leadership was the obvious choice!"

Leadership Stream

All students in the Global Leadership Program undertake units from Northeastern's Leadership Stream: students complete eight units to receive the Master of Science in Leadership or four units to receive the Graduate Certificate of Science in Leadership.

The traditional belief that leadership skills reside solely with a handful of top executives has been replaced by contemporary collaborative models where influence and decision-making is distributed throughout an organisation. The Leadership Stream is designed to assist today's leaders and prepare emerging leaders in meeting the challenges of an increasingly diverse and complex workforce.

Units feature an action-learning approach that is intended to leverage the interdisciplinary backgrounds of participants and help build leadership competencies. All Leadership Stream units are taught by Northeastern academic staff.

Global Leadership in Boston program

Students undertaking a master program have the opportunity to complete two Leadership Stream units on campus at Northeastern in Boston, USA. The Global Leadership in Boston program lasts four weeks and takes place during Swinburne's Winter Term (usually June to July).
